Journalism in the Far West.
Our quondam contemporary is lying as usual--this time in jail. We understand that the saloon-keepers are moving heaven and earth to get him out, as their business has fallen off since he has been cooped. When he gets out what a thirt he will have! --[Arizona Eagle.]

Thomas Beecher, alias the "Kid," attempted last Saturday evening to suppress the freedom of the press by attacking our local scribe with a deadly weapon, which resulted in the "Kid" finding himself laid out under one of the Star of the West billiard tables. --[Big Horn (Montana) Sentinel.]

"My wife, Sarah, has shot my ranche, when I didn't do a thing. Too her, an' I want it distinctly understood that any man that takes her. On my account will get himself pumped so full of lead that some tenderfoot will locate him for a Mineral claim. A word to the wise is sufficient an' ort r work on fools!" --[A. Deadwood Editor.]

Two Arizona braves, Gee Up Charley and Short Pants, called yesterday to lick us. At first they had the advantage, Short Pants having hit us a terrific blow in the stomach, which temporarily knocked the wind out of us. But we soon rallied, and by plying two forms upon Gee Up Charley's head, eliminated him from the battle. Then by skilful manuvering we kept Short Pants from hitting us again until we got to the door, when we called Al Blodget to help us, which he did. The red 'em are now in jail, where they will have a chance to sober up. Our loss was $175. --[Front (Arizona) Gazette.]

PAY CASH FOR GROCERIES. --"Laying cash for groceries is the best check upon extravagance," the Crusader writes to say, "for when the purse is growing light the buyer goes slow and begins to economize. If a woman has only $6 or $7 in her pocketbook at the first of the week with no prospect of getting any more money until Saturday night, she will manage her purchases so that the money she has will hold out during the week. But if she has a book account she will, as a rule, get 10 cents worth of one thing, 15 cents worth of another, never stopping to consider that these odd cents soon amount to dollars, and when the time comes to pay she looks over the items and sees a number of articles she could have done without."

"You don't cook like Sary Ann used to, Matilda," he said. In tones of gentle, exhorting reproof; "no, it seems to me you can't cook like Sary Ann need to." On another occasion it was: "You're not an amateur in gettin' round like Sary Ann was, Matilda. You don't appear to ketch on where she left off." About this time a heavy rolling-pin came in contact with his head. "What do you mean by that, you vizier?" he exclaimed in agony. "I'm doing some of the work Sary Ann neglected," she replied and there was much peace in the family thereafter. --[Philadelphia Record.]

As the reporters were gathering the names of the ladies at the masquerade last evening, one of the latter entered dressed in an elegant costume. She was immediately approached by a pencil hand who politely asked, "Your name, please?" "My name is Miss Brown." "What is your character?" "I have never been questioned. Young man, you are a little too fresh." --[Sacramento (Cal.) Record Union.]

A Coronet's jury in Texas promptly brought in a verdict of "suicide" in the case of a Mexican found suspended by the neck from a railroad bridge. The suicide's hands were scarcely tied, but the jury refused to consider that as a mitigating circumstance. --[Louisville Times.]

"I held her tiny hand in mine, and clasped her fairy form, and told my tale of ardent love, in language sweet and warm. And when I paused for want of breath, she raised her dimpled chin and whistled low, 'I don't catch on; please sing your song again!'"

A few days ago, in Hawkins county, Tenn., James Reynolds put kerosene oil on top of the heads of his three little children, aged two, four and six years, for the purpose of killing vermin. Two of the children died within two hours. A physician saved the other.

"Texan--I trust, sir, you don't mean to call me a liar?"

"Stranger--And if I did call you a liar what would you do about it?"

"I'd do my duty under the law sir."

"And what's that?"

"Hold an inquest over your remains, sir. I'm the Coroner here." --[Cleveland Herald.]

FREE DISTRIBUTION. --"What causes the great rush at M'Roberts & Stagg's Drug Store?" The free distribution of sample bottles of Dr. Donoso's Cough and Lung Syrup, the most popular remedy for Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchitis, now on the market. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

"BY THE SEA"

By Siwell.

[Written for the INTERIOR JOURNAL.]

Patsy Fleetwood was disengaged and out of temper. "You may say what you please," she was saying to her sister-in-law, "Rachel needs her jaws boxed, in fact half the young people of the present day ought to be put in straight jackets for awhile. In my day, young people were deferential to their elders and willing to be guided by them, but now! Why Rachel actually told me I could do as I pleased with my money, she didn't want it, and was sick and tired of hearing of it, that I had better marry David Fox myself if I wanted anybody to, and give my everlasting money to him. She didn't want to hear of it or him either again as long as she lived. That child has an awful temper, and needs looking after. You'd better send her off to school. She's doing no good here." And Aunt Patsy thrust her needle into the rock she had knitted in a way that suggested temper in more than one member of the family.

"Dear me! Patsy, how you shake my nerves! What are you and Rachel quarreling about now? I can never be quiet for a moment, for when I get comfortably settled and try to forget my aches and pains," Mrs. Fleetwood always had a pain—"there's something annoying. Can't you and Rachel fight your battles without doing it over me?" And Mrs. Fleetwood who had done nothing but take her ease and physic all her precious life, began feeling in the folds of her gown for her smelling salts.

Patsy Fleetwood was a spinster, a woman of fine sense and a good disposition. She made her home with her brother, where her presence was sadly needed, and looked after the house, and took charge of Rachel, whom she fondly loved. Her intention was to leave to the girl the little fortune she possessed. "Aunt Patsy," as she was familiarly called, had had a romance in her day, like most women, but had buried it years ago, and taken up duty instead, which isn't a bad substitute after all. Her father had broken off her engagement on account of the young man's poverty and Cyrus Fox had married another woman, a school mate of Patsy, not so smart, nor so handsome, but a good enough woman in her way. They were near neighbors to Mr. Fleetwood, and when Mr. Fox died leaving a widow and one child, David, Aunt Patsy had been first to console and befriend them. David and Rachel played together in childhood, had their quarrels and "make-ups" all between themselves. As they grew older they studied together and read from the same books. And as Aunt Patsy watched them, the frank, bright, but thoughtful boy, the perverse, warm-hearted girl, she got an idea into her head as "Jennie Wren" would say about the size of a walnut, which kept growing as the children grew, and took a strong hold on her plans. Why should not the dream that Cyrus Fox and Patsy Fleetwood should be realized in David and Rachel? But Rachel was a very decided character; not the kind of girl to be led, driven, or persuaded. She had a way of deciding things for herself and will enough to do as she would. Warm hearted and ready-tempered, she had a temper, but could be extremely rude on occasion, quick to beg forgiveness and quick to sin again. Afraid of her father, and finding her mother's nerves too delicate to admit of her child-like presence oftener than at meal time, she grew up loving no one but Aunt Patsy and David. And so Aunt Patsy planned as the years went by, and Rachel was now seventeen and David twenty.

"Fox" said Jones when he got to his room and found that distinguished gentleman tearing up and down the floor, "you're one of your moods."

"Much obliged for your keen observation, but it's none of your business."

"Come now old fellow; No offence. That's a fine girl visiting at Smollet's. I declare I'm dead in love with her already. Never saw such a girl."

"What are you talking about Jones? I've got a new case on hand and in the midst of it, here you come with some everlasting nonsense."

"She said she used to know you," said Jones placidly ignoring his friend's rebuke, "and it must have been something funny you reminded her of, for when she said it, she looked at you and laughed."

"Very much obliged to her, I'm sure, but I wasn't aware that I was looking ridiculous." He was standing at the window with his back to Jones. "Is that all she said about me," he asked.

"Yes, I guess I was mistaken Fox about her laughing at you, something else must have amused her, but she was looking at you. Doubtless I was mistaken."

"And such eyes as she has, and such a way of nipping a fellow when he least expects it!" And then Mr. Jones lit his meerschaum, and with feet on mantel saw through half closed eyes, one picture after another foun in the blue smoke. "And she laughed at me" thought Mr. Fox indignantly, his face burning; he knew just how she had laughed and looked at him, he had seen her look thus many times, and thought went back, back, one, two, three, how fat thought her, fifteen, twenty years, and he saw a boy of seven take a little black eyed girl by the hand, and lead her down to the beach to play; and then teach her how to make mountains of sand and little roads, and lay off cities, And he had given her his toy shovel and used his hands. A little later they had their childish quarrels, and reconciliations there; and later still, a boy and girl studied and read from their sea on the old rock where he had cut their names together, and then a youth and maiden dressed their dreams there, still by the sea, with the salt winds blowing over them, and the sea calling with its unknown voice. How he loved her day, by day, and hour, by hour, he could not tell when he had not loved her.

She was all he had, all else counted as nothing. Every plan for the future was made with reference to her in some way. How happy he was, how perfectly contented, and then the last act in the drama rose before him. When she had laughed his love to pieces, and turned and left him in her decided way, and he had watched a little fair-haired jacket and felt hot go back to the house, while he had half a notion to jump into the sea and end it all then.

Seven years later. Miss Smollet is given a "bath" in honor of some of her old school mates visiting her, among them is Rachel Fleetwood. A rather large, well developed woman, with splendid eyes, and a look of something about her different from any woman there. She had a way of being silent when she had nothing to say and the little nothing which some women can manage to say so sweetly came hard to Rachel. She had something to say, and said it, or had nothing, and was silent. But when she did talk, few women could equal her. Conversant with the best authors, she had ideas apart from them. No item of general interest or importance was beyond her powers of comprehending and discussing, and withal, she had a natural and original manner, which lent it charm. No woman so much admired, and yet none that seemed so distinctly apart from all others.

"Who's that yonder?" she asked the gentleman who had been trying so hard to make himself agreeable.

"That, why that's David Fox; he's the lion of society, the most distinguished barrister in town. You don't mean to say you haven't met him? He's a great friend of mine. A queer fellow though, given to mood, he must be in one to-night and don't want to impose on your good nature, or maybe you've known him before." As something in his face attracted her attention.

"I used to know him," indifferently, "and you say he's a great barrister?" And then she looked at Mr. Fox and laughed. Such a queer laugh, looking at him from under her straight, black lashes that Mr. Jones felt uncomfortable. He hardly knew just where the laugh was directed or might end.

"The little blonde that he's talking with is Miss Flora Helm. 'Mrs. Grundy' says that they are engaged, although I hardly think it. She's not the sort of girl to please Fox I think."

"This is our waltz is it not, the Blue Danube? I do on this waltz, don't you?"

"No I don't do, I'm not much given to that kind of thug."

"I believe you are a queer girl. Miss Fleetwood," as they paused after the waltz, "I like a girl to be a little queer. Girls are all so much alike that it's refreshing to meet with one of your sort." She didn't answer him, and Mr. Jones was growing uncomfortable silent under the battery of her shining eyes. Seeing this Rachel relented, and the sparkling glow of her conversation and her charming manner added another victim to her list. Mr. Jones didn't know what it was he said to his hostess, or just how he got to his hotel. Rachel, Rachel, the name suits her, un-common like herself."

"Fox" said Jones when he got to his room and found that distinguished gentleman tearing up and down the floor, "you're one of your moods."

CRAB ORCHARD, LINCOLN COUNTY.

—The long continued cold weather is making feed scarce and high in this neighborhood.

—The Christian Sunday School, under the management of Mrs. Tarrant and other efficient teachers, is now in a flourishing condition, considering the severe weather. There were more than 50 pupils in attendance last Sunday.

—Frank Chandler bought of Calvin White 100 work cattle for $85. Tom Robinson bought of George and Mack Himes 1 lot of 3 year old mountain feeders at $30 per head. W. R. Dillon bought of Jesse C. Fox 1 yoke work oxen for $100.

—The "Young America" of this place gave a minstrel performance at the Hardin House last Saturday night for the benefit of the Sunday School. They had a crowd ed house and everybody was highly entertained. The boys acquitted themselves with much credit and with practice bid fair to outstrip the older troupe.

—Frank J. Wayman, of the Blackpool (England) Times, has returned from New Orleans and is stopping at the Harris House. Dr. DeCaux Tilney, of England, is giving a series of lectures on Hygiene, &c., illustrated by plates and diagrams, at Old Fellow's Hall, which will be continued until Wednesday night. On the night of the 4th of March there will be an entertainment at College Hall by the school, consisting of recitations, declaimations, readings, dialogues and music. If you don't go to Washington, Mr. Editor, do the next best thing—go to Crab Orchard. Miss Jennie B. Vinton, of Millersburg, who was a former pupil of Mrs. Tarrant at that place and at Lexington, is now an assistant in our college.

—The Zetegathian Society at the college has an open session Friday night and Society Hall was filled with an appreciative audience. The occasion was in honor of Washington's birthday and was highly entertaining, doing credit to both teacher and pupils. Col. Jordan Peter Chandler being present was called on for a speech. He went boldly to the front and in the language of the "Cicero of the mountains," he struck every one present with profound oratorical by his eloquence and gifts of rhetoric. We are sorry that space forbids a verbatim report of the speech. Music was furnished by Messrs. Payne, Farris and King and it was said by many present to be the best they ever heard from three instruments.

—A well-husbanded lady is now residing in the State of Arkansas. She is sixty-five years of age, and is living with a courageous man who has assumed the position of being her fourteenth husband. It is said that in the hall of her house there are thirteen pegs, upon each of which hangs a hat duly labeled as the property of one of the defunct husbands.

—A New York photographer is quoted as saying: "After twenty-five years experience under skylight, and photo-splints over 150,000 people, I have become convinced that in nineteen cases out of twenty the left side of the face gives the most characteristic likeness, while to the same degree the right side is the most symmetrical."

—David Dudley Field at eighty advises young men to be abstemious in their habits to avoid tobacco in all forms, and to sleep not less than eight hours a day. To the fact that he has never permitted anything to interfere with his regular rest each day he attributes his long life, good health and capacity for hard work.

—Ex Gov. S. John said in his speech at Louisville, "I don't understand the tariff, and I never saw a man who did." That may arise from the fact that he wouldn't get on a tariff he could. --[Yeoman.]

—An acquaintance of the other sex remarked to a woman, "I never heard of a venereal being cast out of a man" "X" was the reply; "they've got them yet."

—WILL YOU SUFFER with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure or money refunded—Internal, External, Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles. Price 50 cents a box. No care, no pain. Penny & McAllister, Druggists.

—Positive Cure for Piles. --[Yeoman.]

To the people of this country we would say that we have given the agency of Dr. Marchis's Italian Pilo Ointment—emphatically guaranteed to cure or money refunded—Internal, External, Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles. Price 50 cents a box. No care, no pain. Penny & McAllister, Druggists.

—Daughters, Wives and Mothers. --[Yeoman.]

We emphatically guarantee Dr. Marchis's Calomel, a female remedy, to cure Female Diseases, such as Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and displacement or bearing down, feeling, irregularities, Barrenness, Change of life, Leucorrhœa, too many menses, springing from the above, like Headache, Bleeding, Sighing, Weakness, Nervous debility, Palpitation of the Heart, &c. For sale by druggists. Price $1 and $1.50 per bottle. Send to Dr. Marchis, Utica, N. Y., for pamphlet, free.

—Something for the Baby. --[Yeoman.]

What a terrible affliction about the house is a cross, crying baby. A young man on the very edge of insanity might easily be frightened from his purpose by hearing too much of that sort of noise at the

W. P. WALTON.

More than a hundred years ago, some old rebel proposed a monument to the father of his country to be erected at Washington. The matter was agitated at intervals, but not until July 4th, 1848, was the work begun and the corner stone laid of the imposing edifice, which was on Saturday dedicated to the memory of him who was "First in War, First in Peace and First in the Hearts of his Countrymen." The work was begun on private subscriptions and the progress was slow till the beginning of the civil war, when operations ceased entirely. Afterward Congress took the matter in hand and by public appropriations at last completed the shaft which is by far the highest structure in the world. At the dedication Saturday the weather was terribly cold, but the crowd was there. Senator Sherman made an address, so did W. W. Corcoran, Col. Casy and President Arthur, though a correspondent says their remarks were insipid, but puffs of steam from their mouths was evidence that the proceedings were being carried on according to the programme, and at every little intermission the auditors stamped approvingly. After the ceremonies at the monument, an historic address by Hon. Robert Winthrop was read in the Capitol by Gov. Long, owing to that gentleman's illness, and an oration by Hon. John W. Daniel, of Virginia, concluded the programme. Mr. Daniel is one of the most eloquent speakers in the country and in his effort he more than maintained his reputation as an accomplished orator. The monument has been a long time reaching completion, but it was a grand undertaking and to day stands 275 feet higher than the dome of the Country's Capitol and 45 feet higher than the hitherto unequalled Cologne Cathedral, it commemorates the memory of a man who was as much greater than all other heroes as his monument surpasses all other structures. Long live that memory and the republic he founded.

It is rare that a man grows so greatly in popular favor as President Arthur has since his call to the highest office in the nation. Scarcely known beyond the limits of his State four years ago and only there as a politician of the pot-house order, he has demonstrated to the country that he has the qualities of a Statesman to an eminent degree. Taking charge of his office at a most trying time and with a strong feeling against him, both in and outside of his party, he has succeeded in winning the respect of even his enemies and convinced the world that he is eminently a man of affairs. He deserves, as he will receive, the praise of all good people. The courtesies of various kinds that he has shown to the incoming administration entitles him to its gratitude and proves that he is a gentleman, who knows all that is due another and acts in accordance. Arthur will live in the hearts of his countrymen when both Grant and Hayes shall have been forgotten in their connection with the presidency.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

JUDGE SAMUEL M. BOONE, whose name now appears as editor of the Somerset Telegraph, and whom we welcome to the fraternity with much pleasure, announces in its last issue that "We are democrats of the grandest type." This is good news. After running on the banks for years, the clever judge wavered in his faith a short time ago and ran as the republican candidate for State senator in this district. But as he did no harm and is now probably ashamed of bucking against a regular democratic nominee, we are not only willing, but anxious to receive him back into the fold. So here's to you, Brother Boone.

It seems to be settled that Hon. T. F. Bayard is to be Secretary of State and it will be well for the country if it be a stepping stone to the presidency. A number of Secretaries of State have afterwards been president. Thomas Jefferson was Washington's Secretary of State, James Madison was Jefferson's. John Quincy Adams, a secretary, afterwards became President. Van Buren was similarly elevated and so was James Buchanan. There have been several misses, notably Henry Clay's, Daniel Webster's and James G. Blaine's, but they all tried to get there.

The Richmond Register has a sensible editorial on the convict question, which concludes thus: "The coal fields of Kentucky ought to be developed, and the convicts are the men to do it. Another noticeable feature is that in Pennsylvania and Ohio, where the convicts do not work in the mines, there is always great trouble with the miners in the way of strikes. In Kansas, Tennessee and Alabama where they do work in the mines, the miners are entirely quiet."

It was given out just before the vote on the bill to place Gen. Grant on the retired list of the army, that he was suffering with cancer of the tongue and that he was arranging his affairs with a view to being ready when the summons would shortly come. It had no effect on the hard-hearted Congressmen, however, and now it is said that it was no cancer at all, but only an ordinary sore mouth.

A whole temperance lecture is contained in a single paragraph from Eminence. Johnathan Edwards got drunk and started home and falling by the wayside froze fast to the ground. When discovered both of his legs and one arm were frozen and they have since been amputated.

The Louisville Democrat should not tear its shirt these hard times. The comment that it criticizes and credits us with came from the Breckenridge News as we stated, though we fully endorsed it.

We were aware that Col. Snider was a bilious crank, but we had no idea he was so small a potato as to strike us from his exchange list simply because of a little criticism. But such alas, slack-a-day, is the fact and hence these tears. To be sure we never found any news in the Post which had not appeared either in the Cincinnati Enquirer or the Courier Journal, the same morning, but its bitter editorial page worked like a charm when we were in a bad humor ourselves, and never failed to bring a smile to see what a pestiferous fool a man could make of himself. Bye-bye Col. We are sad to part, but since you have said it to let it be. Yet it seems to us that things have come to a holt of a pass.

When a man can't criticize a little Jackass.

The momentous question, "Who Struck Billy Patterson?" was long unsolved, has at last been answered. After keeping his secret for six years, John Dwyer, of Haher-sham county, Ga., let the cat out of the bag on his dying day by confessing that he was present at the celebrated row and was the man who inflicted the blow. Thus on one by one are the great questions solved and we may soon be favored with even a better solution of the problem "where was Moses when the candle went out?" than at present exists.

We will "lay" even money that the following list will be announced as Cleveland's Cabinet: Secretary of State, Thos. F. Bayard, of Delaware; Secretary of War, George B. McClellan, of New Jersey; Secretary of the Navy, William F. Vilas, of Wisconsin; Secretary of the Treasury, Daniel Manning, of New York; Secretary of the Interior, Joseph E. McDonald, of Indiana; Postmaster-General, L. Q. C. Lamar, of Mississippi; Attorney-General, A. H. Garland, of Arkansas.

The Court of Appeals has at last decided that the act establishing a Railroad Commission is constitutional. We had hoped that the result would have been otherwise. Our Railroad Commission is about on a par with our Board of Equalization. Both are useless and ought to be abolished. Old political hacks fill the one and inexperienced men the other and both draw much more money from the Treasury than their services could be worth in any event.

Most girls, when they do not love a fellow, take special pride in telling him so, but Miss Jennie Hill, of Cincinnati, was an honorable exception. She was engaged to be married and rather than tell her lover that she could not perform her part of the contract, she jumped into a cistern of freezing water and ended her bright young life. She deserves a monument.

A FORMAL tender of the $111,498.18 balance in the hands of Judge R. J. Breckinridge, ex-Treasurer, to the credit of the K. of H. order has been made by that gentleman and it is said that it will be accepted to day and the long drawn out case finally settled.

Has our good friend, C. L. Thompson, of Hinton, W. Va., sold the Mountain Herald? We have seen no announcement of the fact, yet the name of W. L. Thompson now appears on its first page as editor.

The name of Gen. Sir Charles Stewart is added to the growing list of distinguished English dead in the Soudanese war. Gen. Stewart was wounded in the groin in the battle of January 19, near Shekhat Wells, three miles from the Nile. El Mubdi's advance necessitated the removal of the wounded from Gakdul Wells, a weary journey of 70 miles across the desert, and this brought on a fever from which he died last Monday. In less than a month the British have lost Generals Gordon, Earle and Stewart, Col. Barnaby and a number of other commissioners, besides the famous war correspondents, Cameron and Herbert, to say nothing of the non-commissioned officers and privates that have fallen in battle or succumbed to disease. Thousands of other victims are now being hurried to the front, just at the beginning of the long sickly season, and yet Mr. Gladstone announced to Parliament last night that it is the purpose of the Ministry to evacuate Soudan as soon as possible.

The enthusiasm of the London populace for a vigorous prosecution of the war in the Soudan reached its culmination Saturday on the occasion of the departure of the Scotch Guards from the capital.

Jonathan J. Wright, ex-Associate Justice of the South Carolina Supreme Court from 1870 to 1877, and the only colored man who ever held that office in that State, died in Charleston, Tuesday, aged 64.

Frank Rankin, the Louisville murderer who was sent to the penitentiary for life but who was rescued by the Court of Appeals, has obtained a change of venue to Shelby county, which is the last of the case for years to come.

At a Coroner's investigation of the recent almshouse fire in Philadelphia, Joseph Nadine, a negro 23 years old, committed to the institution as an imbecile, confessed that he had set fire to the building, and was instigated to the act by Peter J. Schroeder, one of the chief attendants.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY

Mr. L. H. Chandler has removed his laundry to the store room belonging to E. B. Russell on Main street opposite the Central House.

In recent report of the White-Royal nuptials, your correspondent accidentally omitted the name of Miss Laura Shackford from the list of bridesmaids.

Mr. Gus Kammers, a college student, whose home is in New Castle, broke his collar bone while coasting Friday evening. His physician, Dr. McMurry, says he will be laid up 3 or 4 weeks.

There was a German at the Opera House Tuesday night and a hop Friday night, both of which were much enjoyed by the large numbers of young people which attended. Eichorn's band from Louisville furnished the music.

Col. W. F. Evans has returned from San Antonio, Texas, where he accompanied his daughter, Mrs. M. J. Farris, who went to visit her husband who is spending the winter there. Mr. Farris' friends will be glad to know that his health is still improving. Mrs. Farris remained with him.

Misses Anna and Sue Van Meter entertained their friends at High Tea Saturday evening from 4 to 8 o'clock. Misses Mamie Metcalf and Hattie Young and Misses F. M. Wilson and Gee. Z. Dimmitt assisted the hostesses in receiving the company which consisted of about 16 couples.

Hon. W. B. Harrison was in town Monday on business in the circuit court. Miss Julia Lehner, of Memphis, is visiting Miss Nannie Barber. Mr. Breckinridge Jones, of St. Louis, is here on a visit to relatives. Postmaster J. S. Linney will probably remove to Missouri, having purchased a farm near Ocoela. Mr. L. L. Bridgford, of Centre College, class of 1884, was in town Thursday, on his way to New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Dunn, of Stanford, were in town Friday attending the celebration of Washington's birthday. Mr. Mont Schoffer and S. G. Givens, of this vicinity, have recently opened a drug store at Howard, Kansas. Col. Wm. Duke went to Washington City Monday.

The following business has been transacted in Circuit Court since last report: Several prosecutions appealed by Arch Denny deft. from police court continued until next term. M. Peyton and John M. Phillips, of the Stanford bar, were sworn in as attorneys of this court. Spencer & Holmes vs. L. & N. Railroad set for 224 day of term. National Bank of Lancaster vs. Miller set for Tuesday. T. W. Jackson vs. Frank Hogan &c., judgment for amount claimed and costs. Trustee of Danville vs. Geo. G. Beddoe, appeal from police court, trial and verdict of guilty. Commonwealth vs. Wm. George, house breaking. Demurser to indictment sustained and cause re-submitted to the grand jury. Commonwealth vs. Ben Durham, charged with shooting G. T. Helm, trial in progress.

PERSONAL.

—Miss MOLLIE DAUGHERTY is back from a visit to Knoxville.

—The May Brothers, a couple of Virginian gentlemen, are here representing the Valley Mutual Insurance Co.

—Rev. J. A. Boone brought his daughter, Miss Kate, here yesterday to take the stage for Lancaster, where she is attending college.

—Mr. D. B. EDMISTON is back from New Orleans. His companions thither, Messrs. J. S. Hocker and E. B. Hayden went on to Texas.

—Col. T. T. Hill, Judge M. C. Sausley and P. M. McRoberts, Esq., went to Louisville yesterday to defend a man named Fly for counterfeiting.

—Mr. and Mrs. JOHN A. HIGGINS, of Silver Creek, were the guests of Mr. W. H. Higgins. Mr. Higgins is an applicant for the Richmond postoffice.

—Misses MATTIE WILLIAMS and Mrs. Lasker, of Bloomington, Ill., but at present attending Bell Seminary at Danville, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. John McRoberts, at the St. Asaph Hotel.

—Mrs. MARY W. BOWMAN has returned from the New Orleans Exposition, delighted with its magnificence. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McAllister, who went with her thither, extended their trip to San Francisco.

LOCAL MATTERS.

TOBACCO chewers should try the White Burley at W. H. Higgins'.

—BIGGEST line of bird cages ever brought to Stanford at Bright & Curran's.

—BORN, to the wife of engineer Delph, yesterday, at the Junction, a 12 pound boy.

—FOR RENT.—Two desirable dwelling houses at Richmond Junction. Hush Dand ders.

I WANT to rent 40 or 50 acres of good blue grass land, near Stanford. J. S. Higgins.

—For coughs, colds, &c., use Comp. Syrup of White Pine, in 25 and 50c bottles. Prepared by McRoberts & Stagg.

—H. J. DAVIS offers for sale 2 building lots, between Stanford and Rowland, well located and accessible.

—THE CASE against old man Alex. Cope, of Casey, held for counterfeiting has been dismissed and he is again at liberty.

—I AM daily receiving a splendid assortment of Spring suitings, which I would be glad to have my customers and the public call and examine. H. C. Rupley, The Tailor.

—SEVEN INCHES.—Mr. John S. Hayes brought us the measurement of the ice on Mr. John M. Reid's pond Saturday, showing that it was a little more than seven inches. It never gets any thicker in this climate.

—T. K. C. offers tickets to the presidential inauguration at Washington at $15 for the round-trip. Sale commences on the 28th and ends March 3d, and tickets are good till the 10th. The L. & N. have them on sale now at $16.40.

—THE POSTMASTER and the bank officials were the only patriotic people in town yesterday. They observed Washington's birthday by taking a holiday, but unlike the balance of us they get the same pay whether they work or not.

—THE ADJUSTER who came here to settle with Hon. G. A. Lackey failed to do so. He claimed that the house was not worth $3,000 and after agreeing to leave it to competent carpenters to saw what it was worth, backed out, Mr. Lackey says, and offered him $2,700. The Company is the Home of New York and the adjuster's action has not helped its popularity here.

—THE NEW ARGUS published a letter purporting to be from Gov. Simon Bolivar Buckner to Judge Owseley supporting his application for the Collectorship which has a P. S. saying, "I suppose I can say you will not be a candidate for Governor." Owseley's response is: When I am Collector I'll feel better able to answer your question. In the mean time hustle up your friends.

—THE WEATHER continues to be a never failing source of remarks. Each snap seems to vie with the former in severity until the last has laid them all in the shade. Friday morning the mercury was down to 20 degrees below and Saturday it had crawled to 5° below zero. Sunday morning it had gone up to 10° but yesterday had dropped back to 5° above. It has been the longest cold spell this winter as well as the severest. Surely we can not have many more such with the sun getting so near to us daily.

NEW PLOW IN THE FIELD—"Imperial." See W. H. Higgins.

FULLY a 1,000 lambs in this immediate vicinity alone were frozen during the present severe snap.

PERSONAL.

—MISS MOLLIE DAUGHERTY IS BACK FROM A VISIT TO KNOXVILLE.

—THE MAY BROTHERS, A COUPLE OF VIRGINIAN GENTLEMEN, ARE HERE REPRESENTING THE VALLEY MUTUAL INSURANCE CO.

—THE WOODFORD SUN SAYS: "THE INTERIOR JOURNAL OF LAST FRIDAY CONTAINED AN ORIGINAL SHORT STORY OF UNUSUAL MERIT. WE HOPE 'SWELL' (LEWIS) WILL KEEP HIS HAND IN." BROTHER LEWIS IS A COMPETENT JUDGE AND IS PRETTY GOOD ON READING BACKWARDS, BUT HE DIDN'T HIT THE SEX AS WELL AS HE DID THE NAME OF THE WRITER, WHO IS A LADY AS LOVELY OF FEATURE AND FORM AS SHE IS TALENTED AND ACCOMPLISHED. SHE FAVORS OUR READERS WITH ANOTHER STORY THIS ISSUE WHICH WILL BE CONCLUDED IN THE NEXT.

—ANOTHER MAN KILLED.—"SQUIRE JAMES H. EISER, WHO CAME IN FOR THE COUNTY ATTORNEY YESTERDAY GAVE US THE PARTICULARS OF A KILLING THAT OCCURRED ON GREEN RIVER SATURDAY ABOUT SUNDOWN, WHICH BEARS CONSIDERABLY THE COLOR OF A WILFUL MURDER. JAMES R. GRAGG AND SAMUEL T. GRAGG, BROTHERS, WENT OUT THAT DAY WITH ROBERT PREWITT, COLORED, AND TOGETHER, THEY WENT TO MCKINNEY, ALL SEEING ON THE BEST OF TERMS. RETURNING FROM MCKINNEY THEY STOPPED AT NEW SMITH'S AND GOT A JUG OF BRANDY, OF WHICH ALL PTOOK LIBERALLY. WHEN THEY ARRIVED AT JIM GRAGG'S HOUSE, SO HE AND HIS BROTHER STATED, THE NEGRO ORDERED THEM TO GET A SUPPER FOR HIM AND ALSO DEMANDED THE PAYMENT OF 40 CENTS THAT HE CLAIMED THAT SAM GRAGG OWED HIM, SAYING THAT HE INTENDED TO HAVE IT OR THE LIVES OF BOTH OF THEM. JIM GRAGG ORDERED HIM OUT AND HE WENT BUT RETURNED WITH AN AX, WITH WHICH THE MEN CLAIM HE STRUCK JIM. THE TWO THEN OVERPOWERED HIM AND GETTING THE AX, JIM STRUCK HIM WITH THE BACK OF IT THREE TIMES IN THE FACE AND HEAD AND THEN TURNING IT REVERSED HIS JUGULAR VEIN WITH THE BLADE. ANY ONE OF THE SEVERAL BLOWS WOULD HAVE BEEN FATAL. A CORONER'S INQUIRY WAS HELD SUNDAY AND A VERDICT RENDERED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE ABOVE FACTS. THERE WAS NO WITNESS TO THE DEED, AND THE MEN THINKING THAT THEIR STORIES WILL ACQUIT THEM OF THE KILLING GAVE THEMSELVES UP AND YESTERDAY AFTERNOON HAD THEIR EXAMINING TRIALS AT THE PLACE OF THE TRAGEDY. THE FACT THAT THE MEN WERE ON SUCH INTIMATE TERMS WITH THE NEGRO SHOW THAT THEY REGARDED HIM AS GOOD AS THEMSELVES AND DISPROVED THEIR STORY OF BIG VIOLENCE TOWARDS THEM. JIM GRAGG, WE UNDERSTAND, BEAR THE REPUTATION OF HAVING KILLED ANOTHER NEGRO IN KANSAS, AND IT IS RATHER STRANGE THAT HE SHOULD HAVE TO CONTINUE THE BUSINESS HERE. WE HAVE NO DOUBT THAT A SKILLFUL CROSS QUESTIONING WILL SO MIX THE MEN UP IN THEIR STORIES AS TO DISPROVE THEM ALTOGETHER.

MARRIAGES.

—W. W. JONES, Esq., the young man who got set down upon by Gen. Frank Wolford in his race for Congress, is to marry Miss Louisa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Wheat at Columbia to-day. A loving wife with a prospect of $40,000 is much better than a seat in Congress and those who have been sympathizing with Mr. Jones will confess that he is not left out in the cold by any means.

—WE LEARN ON PRETTY GOOD AUTHORITY THAT OUR JOVIAL YOUNG FRIEND AND FORMER TOWNSMAN, DR. O. H. McROBERTS, OF LIBERTY, HAS DECIDED TO GIVE UP SINGLE CLOTHEDNESS AND WILL NEXT WEEK LEAD TO THE ALTAR MISS MATTIE L. COFFY, OF CASEY. THEY HAVING LIFE TOGETHER ON THE SAME DAY THAT CLEVELAND ASSUMES THE AFFAIRS OF THE GOVERNMENT AND START THE NEW ERA UNDER THE MOST SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES.

DEATHS.

—MRS. MOORE, WIFE OF DR. GREEN MOORE, OF MCKINNEY, DIED SUNDAY OF CONSUMPTION, LEAVING FOUR LITTLE CHILDREN. SHE WAS A GOOD WOMAN AND HAD FULLY PREPARED HERSELF FOR THE GREAT CHANGE.

—S. P. WALTERS, PRESIDENT OF THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF RICHMOND, DIED AT THE LOUISVILLE HOTEL, IN LOUISVILLE, THURSDAY EVENING LAST, AGED 69. HE WAS AN EXCELLENT BUSINESS MAN AND A STANCH PRESBYTERIAN.

—OF PARALYSIS, AT 2 A. M. SATURDAY, MR. BENJAMIN F. EUBANKS PASSED QUIETLY FROM EARTH IN THE 55TH YEAR OF HIS AGE. BORN IN THIS COUNTY, WHERE MOST OF HIS LIFE WAS SPENT, HE MADE HOSTS OF FRIENDS WHO BEAR WITNESS TO HIS HONESTY, PROBITY AND UPRIGHTNESS OF LIFE. A GOOD NEIGHBOR, A KIND HUSBAND AND A LOVING FATHER, HE WILL BE MISSED IN THE COMMUNITY, WHICH CAN ILL SPARE HIM. A WIFE AND FIVE CHILDREN, ALL GROWN, SURVIVE HIM AND SORROW AT A LOSS WHICH CAN NEVER BE FILLED. A FUNERAL SERVICE WAS PREACHED AT HIS LATE RESIDENCE AT 10 A. M. SUNDAY BY REV. JAS. BAILLON AND THE REMAINS BROUGHT TO BUFFALO SPRINGS CEMETERY FOR INTERMENT.

—THE WEATHER CONTINUES TO BE A NEVER FAILING SOURCE OF REMARKS. EACH SNAP SEEMS TO VIE WITH THE FORMER IN SEVERITY UNTIL THE LAST HAS Laid THEM ALL IN THE SHADE. FRIDAY MORNING THE MERCURY WAS DOWN TO 20 DEGREES BELOW AND SATURDAY IT HAD CRAWLED TO 5° BELOW ZERO. SUNDAY MORNING IT HAD GONE UP TO 10° BUT YESTERDAY HAD DROPPED BACK TO 5° ABOVE. IT HAS BEEN THE LONGEST COLD SPELL THIS WINTER AS WELL AS THE SEVEREST. SURELY WE CAN NOT HAVE MANY MORE SUCH WITH THE SUN GETTING SO NEAR TO US DAILY.

RELIGIOUS.

—THERE IS A YOUNG PREACHER IN TOWN WHO KNOWS A GREAT DEAL ABOUT THE LITTLE PLAYING KNOWN AS "LIMBER JIM." ASK HIM ABOUT IT.

—FAITH OR THE PRAYERS OF THE FAITH CURE PEOPLE COULD NOT SAVE HARRY HAMMOND; WHO FELL OVER DEAD WHILE PETITIONS WERE BEING OFFERED IN HIS BEHALF AT THE LOUISVILLE FAITH CURE.

—THE ENGLISH EVANGELIST, VARLEY, IS CREATING A SENSATION IN RELIGIOUS CIRCLES IN LOUISVILLE, NOTWITHSTANDING THE PICTURE THAT THE COURIER JOURNAL GAVE OF HIM. SUNDAY MAKES HIM LOOK LIKE A SWAGGERING DRUNKARD.

—THERE WILL BE PREACHING AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH FRIDAY AT 7 P. M., AFTER WHICH TRANSELYVANIA PRESBYTERIAN WILL HOLD A SPECIAL MEETING TO RECEIVE REV. H. MILLER AND A. S. MOFFETT. THE INSTALLATION OF REV. A. S. MOFFETT AS PASTOR OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WILL TAKE PLACE ON SATURDAY AT 11 A. M. SERMON BY DR. GREEN, OF DANVILLE; CHARGE TO THE PASTOR AND CONGREGATION BY REV. J. J. CHIELOU AND REV. J. E. TRIPPLETT. THERE WILL BE PREACHING ALSO AT 7 P. M., AND A SACRAMENTAL SERVICE ON SABBATH AT WHICH REV. J. E. TRIPPLETT WILL ANNOTATE THE PASTOR.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

—J. E. BRUCE BOUGHT OF WARE & ROBINSON A YOKE OF CATTLE FOR $100. TOBACCO IS QUOTED IN THE LOUISVILLE MARKET ALL THE WAY FROM $8.75 TO $5 FOR LUGS TO $12 AND $16 FOR FANCY LEAF.

—MISS P. SHELBY HAS PURCHASED 45 FEEDING CATTLE OF SIMON WELL, AT $65 PER HEAD, OR $540 PER CWT. —[LEXINGTON OBSERVER.]

—TWO GOOD ALDERNEY COWS WITH YOUNG HEIFER CALVES, FOR SALE. ONE IS AN ALDERNEY WITH A CALF AND THE OTHER IS HALF ALDERNEY. JOHN M. McROBERTS, SR., STANFORD.

—D. C. TURHUNE HAS BOUGHT OF WM. CLOUD, OF CASEY COUNTY, 21 HEAD OF GOOD LONG YEARLING MULES AT $81 PER HEAD; OF J. L. NEAL, OF MERCER, 1 HEAD OF YEARLING, AT $82.50 PER HEAD; OF W. J. HANNA, 2 AT $70 PER HEAD. —[HARRINGTON DEMOCRAT.]

—LANCASTER COUNTY.—ABOUT 400 CATTLE ON THE MARKET, MOSTLY SECOND GRADE, SOLD AT FROM 4 TO 4 1/2. LARGE NUMBER OF PLUG HORSES SOLD AT $75 TO $100. A FEW MULES WERE SOLD AT FROM $100 TO $125. WARE & ROBINSON, OF LINCOLN, SOLD TO TERRELL, OF GARRARD, 30 HEAD OF SECOND GRADE CATTLE AT $35. CROWD RATHER SMALL AND BUSINESS DULL.

HUSTONVILLE, LINCOLN COUNTY.

Stanford, Ky., February 21, 1885

United States Senator-Elect from Arkansas

JAMES K. JONES.

The recently elected senator from Arkansas who is at present serving the state as a representative in congress, is a native of Mississippi, where he received a classical education. At the age of 22 he entered the Confederate army. After the war he returned to his plantation and remained there until 1873, when he began the practice of law. When the constitutional convention was called he was a member of the state senate and was re-elected under the new constitution. In 1877 he was chosen president of the state senate. On Dec. 5, 1881, he first took his seat in the house of representatives, which he has occupied since, and where he is at present serving as a member of the ways and means committee. At the age of 46 Senator-elect Jones, who, by the way, will constitute the third man in the senate, is a man of ideas and well qualified for the great trust he is honored with.

Chief of the Woman's Department at the New Orleans Exposition.

MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE.

The chief of the department of woman's work at the World's exposition at New Orleans is Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, who is admirably qualified for the arduous duties of trying a position. She is descended from one of the old families of New York, and was married in 1847 to the celebrated abolitionist and philanthropist, the late Dr. Samuel S. Howe. The marriage took place in her father's residence, the Ward mansion, one of the historic houses of Broadway, New York, which has since made way for business blocks. Mrs. Howe has traveled extensively and was one of the earliest woman suffragists and abolitionists; is a fine speaker, and at present chief editor of The Woman's Journal. The greatest poem of the war was written by Mrs. Howe, under the title of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," the last stanza of which runs:

"In the beauty of holiness Christ was born across the sea,

With a glory in his bosom that transfigured

you and me;

As he died to make men holy, let us die to make men free,

While God is marching on."

Structured for a Cadet Position.

PORTRAITS OF THE PROMINENT.

Persons Who are Attracting the Most General Attention Just Now.

ROBERT C. WINTHROP.

When the cornerstone of the Washington monument was laid, on July 4, 1848, in the presence of President Polk, the vice-president, members of the cabinet, senators, representatives, and a host of other persons, Robert C. Winthrop, then speaker of the house of representatives, delivered the oration. It would have been a most happy and appropriate event if, after an interval of nearly 37 years, now that the noble shaft, capped and completed, stands against the sky, the inaugural address in honor of the consummation of the work on Washington's birthday anniversary, could have been made by the same and now venerable orator. This was, for a time, confidently expected; but illness has intervened, and it has been decided that the oration prepared by Mr. Winthrop shall be read by the Hon. John D. Long, a representative from Massachusetts, in the presence of the president and cabinet, judges of the supreme court and the members of both houses of congress assembled in the hall of the house of representatives.

Mr. Winthrop was a contemporary with Daniel Webster, having studied law under the latter. He is a lineal descendant in the sixth generation of the first pilgrim governor of Massachusetts. In politics he represented his district in the Massachusetts legislature from 1833 to 1840, when he was elected to congress, remaining there until 1850, when he was chosen to succeed Daniel Webster in the senate, the latter having accepted a place in President Fillmore's cabinet. After 1851 his political career ended, and he devoted himself to pursuing literary, archaeological and charitable employments, having for years been president of the Massachusetts Historical society. He has also published several volumes of a historical and biographical nature.

COL. THOMAS L. CASEY.

To the energy and skill of Col. Thomas Lincoln Casey is due, more than any individual, the stupendous undertaking of the completion of the Washington monument in six years without any delay and without the loss of a single life. In 1858 Col. Casey was chosen by the joint high commission to prepare a project for the completion of the monument. On the acceptance of his plan he immediately set to work and has since been piling up blocks of stone to a height heretofore unaccomplished in the history of architecture. In six years he has added 390 feet of masonry, making the total height of the shaft, above its base, 555 feet.

Col. Casey was born in Madison Barracks, Sackets Harbor, N.Y., in 1811. His family, on both the paternal and maternal sides, have been active and respected citizens of Rhode Island since the middle of the seventeenth century. Graduating from West Point he entered the Ordnance Bureau as instructor of engineering at the Military Academy. During the late "unpleasantness" he was mainly employed in charge of the construction of fortifications on the coast of Maine and New Hampshire.

His present duties relate to the construction of the buildings for the state, war and navy departments, of the improvements over the grave of Thomas Jefferson, at Monticello, Va., of the erection of a monument in Washington's headquarters at Newburg, N.Y., and of the erection of a monument to mark the birthplace of George Washington. Col. Casey is a geologist of note, and a gentleman of the literary tastes and requirements.

A Prominent Representative from Mississipi.

BENJAMIN F. JONES.

Among the prominent southerners in the United States whose names appear in connection with a position in the incoming cabinet of President Benjamin F. Jones is quite frequently mentioned. Senator Jones is a native of Kentucky, where he was born in 1827. He could be taken with his party of Friends, where he received his education. He turned south at the age of 19 to settle in New Orleans, studied law, and was admitted to practice there. During the war he served in the Confederate militia corps and immediately after the war he was elected a member of the Louisville legislature. This was the beginning of his active political career, which he has followed with undoubted success, having served in both houses of the Louisville legislature, besides being for four years the only attorney for New Orleans. He has been a prominent figure at Democratic national conventions and at present is a member of the Democratic national committee.

Traveled to South.

A New York farmer claims to have discovered a new style of agriculturing by which he can raise 100 acres before they can be eaten. He is not sure of his berries, but we suspect that his berries have to be eaten before they can be swindled.

The Egg. "Mamma, what must you do, before everything else, to have your sin for given?" "Coming the sins."

The Toorish Price of Chips. A citizen who had been playing poker last night before dropped a 1000 chip into the contribution box by mistake. After service he went to the deacon who had passed the plate and told him of the mistake. "So I'll just give you a dollar in its place," he said, "and we'll keep the matter quiet." "No you don't," replied the deacon, ignoring the money offered, "that's a blue chip. It's worth five dollars."

A Prominent Representative from Mississipi.

In several of the lists of cabinet possibilities "going the round" in anticipation of President-elect Cleveland's announcement of his choice, is found the name of Hernando De Soto Money, as the coming moderate general, which renders his portrait of interest just now. Mr. Money was born in Mississippi in 1855, and received a university education prior to pursuing his law studies. He is an editor by profession, and has wielded powerful influence in the politics of his state. He was elected to the Forty-fourth congress, taking his seat in 1875, and has been continually re-elected since.

A well educated man, who probably finds a dead key in the streets pleased living at this office. There's a dead lock here that must be opened 200 times.

How the Shell Acted.

(Detroit Free Press)

In going over the battlefield of Malvern Hill we came across one of the monster shells thrown from gunboats in Turkey Bend. At a hour, in going up the Virginia road, we met four colored men driving a mule and cart and told them of the location of the relic. They hurried off to get it, and we went into the national cemetery. Just as the party were ready to return to Richmond the mule belonging to the colored gang clattered past, having the thighs dragging behind him. He was pretty closely followed by one of the negroes, who went by us at 2:40 gait and would not stop to answer questions. In about five minutes a second one came up, hat off and face covered with blood. As he stopped to pant he was asked what had happened.

"Powful times, boss," he gasped out. "Aren't you one of the men who went after the shell?"

"Deed I am, Ize one of de men who found it, too."

"What happened?"

"We dun out to broke him up wid doax De mewl has gone by. Julius Henry has gone by, an' heah I is, while he rest of the crew am mad for do Jeemos rifer and pickin out pieces of iron as day fly! Dat shell up an' went an' 'splosed onto us."

CURE FOR PILES.

Piles are frequently produced by a seous weight in the back, loins and lower part of the pelvis, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At these, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulence, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A asters, like inspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching after getting warm, is a very common attendant. Bleeding and itching piles yield at once to the applications of Dr. Boswick's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching and affording a permanent cure. Price 25c cents. Address the Dr. Boswick's Medicine Co., Piqua, Ohio. Sold by Penny & McAllister.
